PLEASE WILL YOU CASH THIS NAPKIN . . . Douglas Beatty, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presents Mrs. Eleanor Pierce of the American Trust with a napkin-check made out by Loren R. McQueen, (right) of McQueen's Autos, Union and San Jose-Los Gatos Road. McQueen didn't have his check book with him when he was asked to join the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and the napkin was the only thing handy that Beatty could dig up to write on. Doug wasn't taking any chances of losing a member because of the desperate situation in which the C. of C. finds itself. Public Gets Chance to Save C. of C. at Meeting on Tuesday

An all-out appeal for all members, potential members and just plain interested residents who realize the value of a Chamber of Commerce to attend the general meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday, June 4, was made this week by Douglas Beatty, president.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Campbell City Hall.

Needs Reviving

The meeting has been called to see if something can be done to revive the financially ill Chamber of Commerce which is facing a losing struggle over income and outgo.

Beatty and his fellow directors claim that nothing is wrong with the Chamber that a good and strong membership won't cure but because so many members have failed to pay their dues the Chamber has been placed in a serious financial predicament.

The membership in the C. of C. is down even from last year.

Only 87 Paid

As of this week only 87 members have paid their dues, compared to more than 100 last year out of a potential of more than 300.

The accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce since its revival last year when Sam Cava was employed as full-time secreatry-manager will be outlined by Beatty. Despite the floundering in the sea of financial woes, the Chamber has achieved an outstanding record during the year since it was reorganized.

More than 300 notices of the meeting next Tuesday are being mailed this weekend in which the agenda of the meeting will be outlined.

Questions to be Asked

Some of the questions that will be asked those attending the meeting with the hope that answers will be forthcoming include:

What services should the Campbell Chamber of Commerce offer?

Should the services now rendered by the C. of C. be curtailed?

What services should the Chamber furnish the City of Campbell in relation to the future civic bond issue, the sales tax, annexations and overall planning?

Should the Chamber continue to sponsor Old Settlers Day, the second oldest celebration of its kind in the state?

How can the Chamber of Commerce be of more service to local residents in the way of overall improvement of the City?

Should the Chamber continue its aggressive program of annexations to provide industrial sites for a stronger tax base and should it continue its program of interesting industries to locate here?

Beatty pointed out that suggestions will be welcomed from the floor and those wishing to ask questions on the functions of the C. of C. will be given an opportunity.

"There are many," the president said, "who realize the value of a strong Chamber of Commerce but our problem apperently is to convince others that it is to everyone's benefit that the doors be kept open.

'Case of Missing Fence' Appears Again Monday

Latest developments in "The Case of the Missing Fence". a whodunit with an extremely local setting, will proably be revaled at the City Council meeting Monday.

A number of residents on Hawthorne Street, are expected to be in attendance at the meeting to see what progress is being made on their charge that Nelson Bros. Trucking on Foote Street, adjacent to their homes, is in violation of city zoning.

The City Council at the last meeting directed City Attorney Joseph Bonacina to ascertain whether the trucking concern is violating its non-conforming use permit under which it has been operating. It is expected that Bonacina will make a preliminary report based on investigations that have been made.

The Hawthorne St. residents, with Robert W. Harris, 400 Hawthorne, as spokesman have long objected to the operation of the trucking concern because of the noise and dirt raised. Their chief complaint, however, has been that the firm has been uncooperative about cleaning up its yard upon which the nearby residents must gaze without the benefit of a fence.

They also claim that the trucking firm promised to put up a fence but so far nothing has been done about it. Their complaint to the Council about the violation of the zoning ordinance came after they felt that they were getting no where with the Nelsons on their own.

Bonacina is expected to report Monday also on another controversial matter, the new 15-foot setback requirement for streets for which plan lines have already been established. The public hearing on the proposed change was closed last meeting but Bonacina wanted more time to study technical and legal aspects involved. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Simmons, 400 N. Winchester Road, were present at the last meeting, as they have been at most of the hearings on the matter in the past, to make their final protest.

No discussion from the floor contemplated Monday however, is because the hearing has been closed, but the Council is expeced to take final action based on Bonacina's report.

No other public hearings are scheduled Monday but the City Fathers are expected to give the final readings to three zone-change ordinances. The three include the Dahl-Sondeno property on Sunberry Drive and off of Winchester Road, the Cosmo Perrotta parcel on Winchester Road and the Charles Rose lots at Winchester Road and Latimer.

City Gets $1671 Sales Tax Check

Campbell received $1,671.11 in local sales taxes for the first quarter of 1957 from the State Board of Equalization with most of the amount representing receipts from February sales by taxpayers who pay their tax liablities once a month.

With this check Campbell's total now is $22,722.89 received since the sales tax was adopted on a county wide basis in October, 1956. The February check compares with a check of $1,740.41 that was paid for January collections.

The county's share totalled $37,504.55 for a total of $432,854.04 while the City of San Jose got $71,935.40 this time bringing its total to $873,374.08 since October. A total of $166,311.70 was received by all the cities and the county this time.

Palo Alto followed San Jose with $16,576.07, a considerable drop from its first check this year while Mountain View was in third place with $9,997.78 this time. Santa Clara was next with $7,096.86 followed by Sunnyvale with $5,094.79 and Los Altos with $4,892.41.

"Lucky" (?) Benny Makes It

Campbell High Elects New Officers

If Dame Fortune smiles on the student body at Campbell High next year, many of the students won't be too surprised, for their new student president has earned a reputation for being a lucky guy and they figure some of his luck might rub off.

Benny Lujan, who recently gained fame and fortune at Campbell High because of his phenomneal streak of luck, was elected president of the sudent body for next year in the elections held last Friday. He defeated Linda Yamamoto for the job.

Elected to the Student Council in the election were Jim Omura, Charles Harrison, John Kriewall and Ron Wilson.

Elected cheerleaders were Sharon Berryessa, Pat Cramer and Donna Whitaker. Cheerleaders for the 30's elected were Kathie Aoki, and Jim Segar.

President-elect Lujan, tabbed "Just Call Me Lucky" a few months ago won a $10 cash award entitled "Selling as a Professional Career" sponsored by the San Jose Sales Executive Association. Bu that was just a starter.

His good forturne actually started last summer when he earned $200 selling magazines which is some sort of a record. Then at school Benny was treasurer of the annual magazine drive sponsored by the Junior Class and also magazine chairman of his administrative class. A new record was set in class sales, $854.46. Benny himself sold $231 worth of magazines.

As top salesman he was privileged to stretch his hand in a jar of nickles which netted him $7.95. Next in a penny grab for top class salesman he picked up $2.46. But hold onto your seat . . .

BENNY LUJAN
. . . They Call Him Lucky

He won $20 when his name was drawn during the magazine sale and then was awarded a $62 portable radio-phonograph for being top salesman in the Junior Class.

This all happened in one week for a net to Benny of $112.41. And now he is student body preident . . .

Benny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lujan, 3240 Gleneden Way and has been active in the sports at school, playing on the 30's in basketball and football and on the varsity baseball team. He is a member of Eta Phi Hi-Y and served on the Student Council for one semester.

County Employees Get Pay Increase

County employees were voted a 5 per cent increase in pay across the board this week by the suparvisors with one exception. Howard W. Campen, county executive, get a hike in pay of almost $7,000.

The increase in salaries voted by the supervisors followed the recommendation of Campen except in his own case. He asked for no pay increase for himself but the board on its own volition jumped his pay from $20,400 to $27,324, an increase of almost 30 per cent.

Speculation was rife through out the county following the board's action as to why Campen was given such a big raise making him second highest paid public official in the state. President Robert Sproul of the University of California is the only one who will now exceed him in the pay bracket.

Festival Features Weekend

Everything is in readiness for the two-day fun-filled St. Lucy's annual Festival-Barbecue which will take place this Saturday and Sunday, June 1 - 2 at the St. Lucy's school grounds at Winchester Road and Kennedy Ave.

Saturday's program is beamed for the youngsters during the day, with games, contests, free pony rides and eats in store for the kids. At 4 p.m. on Saturday to culminate the day's activities a bike will be given away to some lucky youngster.

On Saturday night a free dance for adults will be held in the almost-completed church hall on Winchester Road adjacent to the school. Music will be furnished by the orchestra of Joe Tomasello, well known band which has played at the Hawaiian Gardens for the past seven years. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon games and contests for both adults and youngsters are scheduled and the various booths that will be operating will offer valuable merchandise as prizes.

The main event for Sunday afternoon will be the traditional chicken barbecue. Tickets for adults are $1.50 and children's go for 75 cents.

At 4 p.m. the grand prize, a Ford station wagon, will be awarded and there will be other vaulable awards including a Packard-Bell television set, an electric skillet, electric rotisserie and many surprise packages.

Moreland to Open Bids on School

Bids will be opened on June 18 for construction of a seventh and eighth grade school for the Moreland School District, Mrs. Gussie Baker, district superintendent has announced.

The new school named the Elvira Castro School will be located on W. Campbell Ave., just on the outskirts of Campbell city limits on a 25-acre site that is to be in the City of San Jose because of a recent annexation procedure by that city.

It will be the first school in the Moreland District that is planned primarily for the upper grades and it will have 13 classrooms. It is anticipated that it will be open next spring.

The Moreland District takes in part of the City of Campbell and is currently negotiating for its sixth site north of Graves Ave. Mrs. Baker reports that a recent population survey indicates that the phenomenal growth of the district will continue. Four new classrooms are planned also for the Bucknall School in the district.

Closings Mark Memorial Day

In observance of Memorial Day, the postoffice, bank, city and county offices, business and schools in the Campbell district will be closed today. Businesses and offices will re-open Friday.

Elementary students will return to classes as usual Friday morning, while high school students will have Friday as an aditional holiday and not return to their classes until Monday.

In San Jose, the day will be marked by a similar closing and highlighted by a four-division parade at 10 a.m. on N. First and Second Streets.

After the parade there will be a memorial service at Oak Hill Memorial Park .

Board Lets Contract for School No. 13

Campbell elementary district's thirteenth school got the go ahead sign on Tuesday when Barnhart Construction Co., was awarded the contract with a low bid of $334,533.00

The new school named Blackford because of its location on Blackford Lane is expected to be completed by January 1. The awarding of the bid is still subject to review by state agencies. Wayne Fontes now principal of Hamilton School, will be the new principal of Blackford. His successor at Hamilton has not yet been named.

School Number 12, Parkway, now well under consruction is expected to be open in September while Number 14, Lynhaven, on Cypress Ave. is the next to be built.

The trustees of the district this afternoon will make their study of the budget for the district. Preliminary figures which will probably be revised downward, according to William C. Henley, district superintendent, call for a budget of $2,711,000, a new record for the district. Last year for the first time the district passed the $2 million mark.

Proper Use of Speed Can Avoid Many Mishaps

The proper use of speed is one of the best means of avoiding traffic accidents says the California Highway Patrol.

"An analysis of traffic accident statistics shows that speed too fast for conditions is the leading or a contributing factor in the majority of traffic accidents," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Frequently, drivers run stop signs, drive on the wrong side of the roadway, and violate auto or pedestrian right-of-way because they are driving at speeds which are too fast for the existing conditions.

Records indicate that 45 per cent of all violations noted in fatal traffic accidents are for excessive speed. The need for the control of speed is obvious. Obedience to the posted and prima facie speed limits is always necessary, however many times speeds less than the prima facie or posted limits are necessary to avoid accident potentials," he concluded.

Student Cars at Campbell High Get Safety Check

Because 18 vehicles registered to Campbell High School students were involved in accidents during last summer's vacation, police and school officials made a safety check at the school last week to make students aware of faulty equipment and to acquaint them with potential driving hazards.

Both school and police expressed satisfaction over results and indicated the cars were in fair shape, with a few exceptions. Most defects found were minor, with lack of registration display the leading fault, police said.

Made as a courtesy to student drivers, the checkup was conducted by the Driver Education department under the supervision of Cheif of Police Robert Locke and Officer Richard Mayne. Police said they had received full cooperation from the students and hoped the check would make them want to keep their cars in good shape.

Students drove their cars through safety lanes set up in the school parking lot for a check on brakes, head and tail lights, bumpers, windshield and wipers, fenders, rear-view mirrors, loud mufflers, broken windows, drivers' license, registration, and combustible material. Duplicate cards were made designating the condition of the car satisfactory or unsatisfactory; one going to the student, the other to the school files.

"Fallen Angels" to Open at Alcazar In S. F. on June 10

Noel Coward's London and Broadway stage comedy hit "Fallen Angels", has been booked into the Alcazar Theatre for a three week engagement starting Monday evening, June 10, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. It will star Hermione Gingold and Mary McCarty. Huntington Hartford, by special arrangement with Lance Hamilton and Charles Russell, will present "Fallen Angels".

Hermione Gingold was recently seen in San Francisco in the comedy role of the duchess in "The Sleeping Prince", and a few weeks ago she created a hilarious sensation from coast to coast with her short bit of announcing on the Academy Award telecast.

Mary McCarty is better known for her starring roles on the Broadway stage in "Small Wonder" and "Miss Liberty", and other featured players will inculde A. E. Gould-Porter, Gordon Mills, Molly Roden and Bruce Kay.

"Fallen Angels" is all comedy and played strictly for laughs. The story concerns two women whose gay escapades on the continent have shattering repercussions seven years after they are married to rather conservative English gentlemen. The return of a former French boy friend is the basis of one of the most hilarious evenings in the theatre.

County Budget Hits $36 Million

Santa Clara County's Board of Supervisors this week received and adopted the recommendation of County Executive Howard W. Campen as the board's own preliminary budget, clearing the way for final hearings on the $36,272,642 budget.

The proposed total is $2,966,886 above the 1956-57 figure and Campen estimates that it can be financed by an approximately 3 cents increase in the property tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. If this holds true, the county-wide rate would be $1.79.

Breaking this down to an owner of property with an assessed valuation of $4,500, the proposed rate would mean an additional $1.30 to the property owner, according to county estimates.

According to Campan, the increase in the budget comes largely from public works program and salaries.

The highest point in Australia is Mount Kosciusko, 7,328 feet.

Barbers Must Be "Eddicated"

Long Arm of Government Keeps on Reaching into Private Business

Capitol News Service

The arm of the government is a long arm, and with the passage of every legislative session, it reaches farther into the realm of regulation of private business, Some of the legislation actually enacted into law during this 1957 session, which probably will become famous for accomplishing nothing of major import, borders upon the ridiculous.

For instance, there is the bill signed by the governor, and authored by Assemblyman Lester McMillan, of Los Angeles, (AB 201), which provides that even an applicant for an apprentice barber or barber's license must have an eighth grade education.

Book Learning Needed

Now an individual might be able to cut a customer's hair and shave his face with no education at all, for certainly book learning is not essential to the manipulation of scissors and a razor.

It is, of course, difficult to imagine any one in this day and age without an eighth grade education, California's school laws being what they are, coupled with the practice of many schools of passing out the youngsters who are unable to absorb such an education.

But even on the off chance that someone in this state might not get through the eighth grade, or that someone from other states where education is not held in such high repute as in California, the state of California now insists that everyone applying for a license as a barber must have passed the eighth grade.

All of which is probably a prelude to the future when the barber's lobby will ask a high school education, and it is not inconceivable to figure that in the years to come a college education, so the customers can get a discussion on philosophy and the other humanities along with the haircut.

It remains now for the cosmetologists to come forward with a bill requiring all manicurists to be graduates of a first-class modeling school, so the picture would be complete. At least, they probably would sell more manicures.

Why the State?

It is curious as to why the state should concern itself with occupations of this type, other than to enforce regulations on cleanliness which are important to the public health and welfare. This could well be done through the state department of public health, without the necessity of a separate board or commission, a set of administrative rules and regulations, and a bureaucracy which as the years pass by, can only tend toward a czaristic control of a business. This observation applies not only to barbers but to many of the other boards and commissions now in control of other businesses throughout the state.

Returning to the barbers, we seem to recall that reasonably good haircuts were provided before 1928, just thirty years ago, when the legislature after a long and bitter battle, at the instance of a high-powered lobbyist and a group of control-minded barbers, passed the law creating the commission.

San Francisco's first Ferry Building was erected in 1877.

McNeil said the pioneering program for girls is being tried out on an experimental basis and will be expanded if it proves successful.

She plans to carry on a well-balanced program for girls interested in the adventure of cooperative living out-of-doors. The girls' session will run from August 7 to August 20.

Boys' two week sessions will be June 22 to July 5; July 7 to 20, and July 22 to August 4.

PARTNERS
IN FIRE PROTECTION

Your fire department and your public water utility—San Jose Water Works—are alert 24 hours a day to protect your lives and property from the menace of fire.

An adequate flow of water is the Fire Department's primary weapon in fighting the flames which last year destroyed more than a billion and a quarter dollars worth of property in the United States.

As a water utility, it is our job to see that the necessary volume of water is available at the hydrants when the fire fighters need it. Just like the Fire Department, we continually are striving to improve our facilities so that fire losses in this community may be reduced and insurance rates kept down.

However, the most effective form of fire protection is FIRE PREVENTION. Most fires just don't happen—they are caused by human carelessness.

To help the fire departments within our service area advance their programs of public education on fire prevention, San Jose Water Works is going to provide information here which will be furnished by your Fire Chiefs.

Watch this space next month for the first of these vital and timely messages about the precautions you should take to protect your property, your family and yourself from fire.

Richard Farnham and Alice Jones Wed in Mid-Afternoon Ceremony

St. Lucy's Catholic Church, banked with white marconi daisies, delphinium and gloxinia, was the setting for the wedding of Alice Anne Jones and Richard A. Farnham Sunday, May 12. The mid-afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Denis Kennelly.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Jones, 247 W. Cherry Lane, Campbell, and sister of Mary Irene Jones of San Francisco, and Earl Jones of Lancaster, Ohio. She graduaed from Campbell High School where she served as Student Body president and student manager, and attended San Jose State College two years. At the present time she is employed by Owens, Corning Fiberglas.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Farnham of Talent, Oregon and brother of Mrs. Andrew Livacich, Jr., and Jack Farnham, both of Campbell. He graduated from Campbell High School, attended California Polytechnic College three years, and served two years in the U. S. Army.

For her wedding, Alice selected a bouffant-skirted floor-length white nylon gown with a fitted bodice styled with cap sleeves and a deep rounded neckline accented with a collar of lace. Her finger-tip illusion veil was caught to a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, carnations and ivy centered with an orchid when escorted to the altar by her father.

Maid of honor was Mary Irene Jones, sister of the bride, who wore a nylon pastel floral print on white with wide pink cummerbund and bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink daisies and baby roses with a matching bandeau of pink daisies on her hair.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Horne and Mrs. Ronald Eddleman who also wore nylon floral prints wih pink cummerbunds and carried bouquets of pink daisies and roses and matching bandeaus.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones chose a wedgewood blue lace dress with pink accessories and pinned on a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Jack Farnham performed the duties of best man and Paul Ciraulo and Arthur Alverez served as ushers. Organist was Miss Marilyn Ott.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Lucy's School for 150 guests. After cutting their elaborate four-tier wedding cake, the newlyweds slipped away for a honeymoon trip through the Redwood country.

For her going away costume, the bride donned a steel blue ensemble, small pink hat and gloves with black patent leather accessories.

St. Lucy's Y.L.I. Kidnaps Members For Breakfast

About forty members of St. Lucy's Young Ladies Institute were caught off guard at 6:30 Sunday morning when they were rounded up and carried off to a "Kidnap Breakfast" at Red Coach Inn.

Although given a vague warning that the "kidnaping" was to take place sometime in the next three months, no one was prepared for the early morning callers who allowed their victims only to wash their faces and don slippers and bathrobes before whisking them away. As a result, the assembled group had a hilarious time when confronted with each other in pin curls and without make-up or proper attire.

After a "ranch" breakfast of pancakes, bacon and eggs and coffee, they all were returned home in time to attend church.

Co-chairmen, or conspirators, of the party were Mrs. Ray Einberger and Mrs. Paul Quintarelli.

Some of the Council's past activities were father and daughter dinners, slumber parties and "teen" dances. Plans are now being completed for a swim party and picnic to be held after school, June 6, at Club Almaden from 4 to 8 p.m.

To help with scout work, Boy Scouts Ed Hoxie and Lawrence Summers of Troop 20, juniors at James Lick High School, were asked to teach the girls to tie a square knot, timber hitch, sheet bend, bowline, clove hitch and two half-hitches.

Little League Opens Season Saturday

It's Little League time again!

Both Campbell and Cambrian Little Leagues will open their season this Saturday, June 2, at 1 p.m., when the four teams in each league begin their summer schedules.

Campbell Little League will play their games on the Little League field at the Rosemary School while the Cambrian Little Leaguers will cavort on the Little League diamond at the Steindorf School.

"Play Ball" in both leagues will be called at 1 p.m. and in each league there will be a double-header on Saturday. The second game is scheduled to start at 3 p.m.

In the Campbell League, Campbell Lumber tangles with Campbell Stamp in the first game and Robins play Western Gravel in the second.

In Cambrian, Abunda Vita meets Frans Bootery in the opener with Moore Buick battling Mac's Market in the second contest.

Games in both leagues will be played each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m. during the summer. There is only one game each evening during the regular season. The season in both leagues will end Saturday, August 3 with another double-header.

Tryouts were held in the Campbell Little League on April 13, 20 and May 4 and 275 boys participated. It is hoped that six farm teams will be formed to accomodate the youngsters who could not quite make the "big time". Sponsors and managers are still needed for the farm teams, reports Guy Troedsen, commissioner of baseball for the Campbell Summer Recreation District under whose auspices Little League is carried out. Troedsen can be contracted at ES 7-2440.

In the Cambrian sector 425 boys tried out for the mojors and six farm teams are planned and sponsors and managers are also needed, Troedsen said.

Steve Dunn is the Campbell Little League director and Al Rueter is president with Eugene Short vice-president. Ted Bohn is secretary-treasurer.

Rudy Zlendick is Cambrian director and Fred Remer is president with Zlendick vice-president. Sgt John Morgan of the Campbell police is secretary (He is also manager of Mac's Market team) and Don Witzel is treasurer.

Ralph Fryer and John Butler are managers of the Campbell Lumber; Ted Bohn and Tom Sans, Campbell Stamps; Ron Citta and Herb Raymond, Robins and Les Baldinger and Cecil Hughes, Western Gravel.

In Cambrian, Al Wegner and Bill Gonzales handled Abunda Vita, Fred Remer and Jim Kidwell, Moore Buick; Don Witzel and Byron Tonascia, Frans Bootery and Sgt. Morgan and Jack Murray, Mac's Market.

Dave LaBarbera Makes First SCVAL All-Star

Dave LaBarbera, second baseman on the Campbell High varsity baseball team and one of the leading batters in the SCVAL, has been named to the ALL-SCVAL team by a vote of the coaches.

He was the only Buc to make the mythical aggregation but Hector Cordova, outfielder, and Ochoa, outfielder, made the second team.

Lou Leanard of Los Gatos was voted the most valuable player and two others from the Wildcat varsity, Jerry Hicks and Jim Liggett, were also named to the first all-star outfit.

Hicks was the star hurler for Los Gatos. James Lick placed three on the first team also, Kin Mune, Jim Rudd and Ron Cataldo. Kurotori and Riede of Washington and Volpe and Smimizu of Mt. View were the other players named to the all-star roster.

The San Francisco Bay Region has been called the "heartland" of Northern California.

WINS AGAIN . . . Mike Profit, star weightman on the Campbell High Varsity track team, despite a hand injury placed first in the NSC finals at Berkeley last Saturday. On his third try he heaved the shot 57' 11½". His hand had hampered him for the previous meets. He had been forced to stay out of the NCS semifinals but got by because of his previous marks. Mike was defending NCS champion and now goes into the state meet. This will make his third state battle, having placed fourth on two other tries. Berkeley won the NCS meet with 58 points.

Spartan Baseballers Splinter 16 Records

Catcher Jerry Clifford and pitcher Hal Kolstad paced the 1957 San Jose State baseball team which broke or equalled 16 Spartin records.

The Spartans won 18, lost 11 and tied three to launch a successful collegiate coaching career for Ed Sobcak, who jumped to the Spartan bench after three years in the prep coaching ranks.

Kolstad, who won eight and lost two, and Clifford, who for the second straight year led the Spartan batters, tied in the SJS squad voting as most valuable players.

Vancouver, largest city in British Columbia, is situated on Georgia Sound.

Calabray Allows No Hits, No Runs

Because of the rain only one game was played in the Campbell Softball League last week. In the one contest played on Tuesday, Sisemore Construction behind the no-hit, no-run pitching of Frank Calabray scored 14 to 0 victory over Western Gravel.

Calabray, beside pitching sensational ball, turned in a 3 for 4 performance at the plate, getting a single, double and homer. He struck out six opposing batters.

Dick Sisemore also did o.k. for himself in the batter's box by slamming out three hits for four appearances.

The league this week went back to its regular schedule. The league is composed of Mac's Market, Towne Pride, St. John's, Healey Motors, Sisemore Construction, and Western Gravel. Games are played at the Campbell Grammar School field on Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7:30.

Ted Williams

Outfield, Boston Red Sox

Ted was the most valuable player in '46 and '49. He has led the American League in homers and batting four times in his brilliant career.

Johnny Logan

Milwaukee Braves, S.S.

Johnny is one of the consistently fine fielders, he covers plenty of ground as a shortstop. He is also one of the best bunters in the league and last season laid down 31 sacrifices to move mates into scoring positions. Johnny broke into baseball in '47 and compiled an overall .296 Minor League Batting Avg.

Dale Long

Pittsburg Pirates, 1st Base

Dale is the Homer King of the Pirate squad. Last season he belted 8 circuit smashes in 8 games—a feat never done before. Starting baseball in '44, Dale split his time between the outfield and pitching. However, in '50 when he led the Eastern League in Homers and RBI's he knew he belonged in the line-up daily and dropped hurling. The Pirates once wanted to make Dale a lefty catcher.

Yogi Barra

New York Yankees, Catcher

In the 1956 World Series, Yogi's booming bat was the Yank's chief offensive weapon. His .360 batting mark for seven games included 9 hits, 10 runs batted in. In the crucial final game, Yogi blasted two homers to wrap up the Worlds Championship for New York. He was voted the most valuable player in 1951, '54, '55.

Detroit Tigers

The Deroit Tigers just can't seem to beat Kansas City. This is really an up-set.

N. Y. Yankees

The New York Yankees are finally breaking out of their slump and starting to win games again. I still think they will come out on top.

EDITORIAL

For the Community as a Whole

The Campbell City Council is expected to adopt an amendment to the zoning ordinance at the next meeting which will establish 15 feet as the minimum setback for front yards on streets where plan lines have been established.

This is the final step in the long drawn-out legal process necessary before the change from the present 25 feet can be allowed.

There is no question that this change will work a hardship on some residents who live on the streets. But we think no matter what changes are made, some people are going to be hit harder than others.

The City Council and the Planning Commission realize what it means to those individuals affected but the members of the two city bodies have to act for the community as a whole and not for just one segment of it.

We think that in most instances the city officials are doing just that.

One often loses his perspective when either his front or back yard is affected. That is to be expected.

Chamber of Commerce Needs Help

Last week The Press published an editorial entitled "The Chamber of Commerce Is Broke," in which the dire financial straits of the C. of C. were described.

Since the editorial was published, a number of firms and individuals who have been lagging in the dues-paying department have signified their intentions of paying. Some even have paid.

A number of others have paid when they were contacted by some of the directors of the Chamber.

But the situation of Campbell's Chamber of Commerce from a financial point of view is still extremely serious. It needs more than promises to keep functioning. It has to have hard cash and there are no ifs and ands about it.

A general membership meeting has been called for Tuesday evening, June 4 at the City Hall.

It is hoped that members, non-members and potential members will attend to see if there is any way that this vital civic organization can continue to operate and do the job for the community that is so necessary for all of us.

We think that all business and professional people will agree that a Chamber of Commerce serves a useful purpose in a community. Such an organization performs a service that cannot be obtained by any other civic group. It is to the benefit of both residents and business people alike that a healthy C. of C. keep functioning.

In some instances the benefits derived may be indirect. Thus it might be difficult to prove just how much each member will get back from his dues. We are convinced, however, that the value is there to provide, if nothing else, a rallying ground for those of us with common interests; to wit, a better community in which to live and work.

The suggestion has been made that associate memberships at a nominal fee be established in order to give the average resident a chance to participate in the operations and functions of the Chamber of Commerce.

We think there is merit to this suggestion and is one that should be explored to the fullest extent. We hope that those residents who would fall in this category of associate members, and are willing to help, will attend the general meeting on June 4 to offer their suggestions, their cooperation and their dues.

It is our studied opinion that should the Chamber of Commerce be forced to close its doors because of its financial woes that within a short period of time the necessity of its existence would become so apparent that public sentiment would force a similar or the same organization to start up again.

But stopping and starting is an expensive operation and the lost time by such a maneuver can never be regained.

Closing down the C. of C. might possibly serve as a drastic step in calling attention to the importance of the organization, but it would be unfair to those (there are now 87 paid-up members) who have supported it from the beginning.

We sincerely hope that those of you who have neglected paying your dues, either by oversight or for some other reason, will see the handwriting on the wall.

We hope that those (and this should include all who live or work here) who realize the value of the Chamber of Commerce will attend the meeting on Tuesday, June 4, to lend both their moral and financial support.

The Chamber can use some of each.

Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

Back in 1939 I got nation-wide publicity for doing something in court practice that I had never done even once. Take for instance this item clipped from the Ponca City News, of far away Ponca City, Oklahoma, and sent to me by a clipping bureau:

"CAMPBELL, Calif. - (AP) - Justice John Blaine has his own idea of handling juvenile law breakers. Instead of jail sentences he gives them reading assignments and orders them to report back for examination on what they have learned."

The original story on which that item was based was printed in a morning daily of San Jose. The reading assignments were represented to be for literature that was inspirational. For this reason the news item was made a feature story in Christian Science Monitor. A friend sent me a clipping of this from New England.

The Monitor, as is well known, has national circulation. News from the AP, or Associated Press, also circulates nationally. Since I had never imposed such a sentence, as I have said, even once, and it was contrary to my convictions, I was horrified.

Inspired Not Sentenced

What actually happened was that I had inspired a youth of 18, a young adult, not legally a juvenile, to make a new start in life by the help of reading inspirational literature. I had made a new start in life in precisely that way myself. It was by telling my own story that I had interested this youth.

He asked to see some book that had been inspirational to me. So I gave him an extra copy that I happened to have on hand. This incident proved to be a turning point in his life and he made a genuine new start.

This story I told to a newspaper reporter, a young woman, who called at my court regularly. She got the idea that I had imposed inspirational reading as a sentence and wrote up the story in this way. She added the idea that I demanded reporting back for examination, which agrees with ordinary probation practice.

To say that I did all this as a matter of regular court practice was easy. And it was in this form that story got into print. It was a sensation and was scattered over the nation.

Now, in the first place the story was impossible. I did not have jurisdiction over real juveniles, or boys under 18. I could only certify them to the Juvenile Court. Such was the law in California, and it was in my view correct. Boys over 18 are potentially different people, with different possibilities. If this is not so, why does the law make this distinction?

I have spoken before of the fact that it has been proposed to lower the voting age to 18. Is there any movement to lower voting age to 17? If so, I have not heard of it. I take it, therefore, that in the public mind the idea of a turning point at 18 is well established.

In my court practice I agreed with the public that age 18 was a definite turning-point. I felt that to take advantage of this situation required a great deal of tact. I was fortunate in having the court in my own home. Here I could talk with young men as confidentially and privately as a medical man or psychologist does.

I found, however, that young men tended to be antagonistic to good books in general. They had been fed up on good literature in school through the effects of compulsion. One of the best presentations of this predicament I ever heard was in the voice of Alexander Woollcott, a real wit, who over the radio said:

"We call it educating students in classic literature when we take them by the scruff of the neck and rub their reluctant noses in it."

Role Never Played

That role was one the Campbell judge was supposed to have played. But I never played it or heard of any other judge playing it. Yet the idea that a judge had done what schools fail to do, made great literature "take," was thought important enough to broadcast over the nation.

Important? Yes, great literature is important. And over the years I seemed to observe that those who do the most reading of great literature have gray or white hair. If great literature is really important it logically follows that it is important to live long enough to have gray or white hair!

But today I'm observing something else. An increasing number of "young" folk in middle life are reading self-improvement books. With self-improvement these "young" people may live long enough to have gray or white hair. Then they can join in reading the great books.

OUT on the LIMB with George Vierhus

We jotted down a few notes during and after the Old Settlers Day parade but we didn't find any place to use 'em until this week. We figure this column is about as good a place as any to drop them in so here goes.

Notes on Celebration

There was the usual normal confusion in getting the parade moving but that is to be expected and is part of the fun. It is quite a job to get all the units in the right place at the right time. There will be always latecomers and that is to be expected.

Two of the guests at the Old Settlers luncheon which preceded the parade were our county's legislators who have been working strenuously in Sacramento while the legislature has been in session.

State Senator Jack Thompson and Assemblyman Bruce Allen both took time off from their duties in Sacramento to be present for the luncheon and parade which was much appreciated by all concerned.

—o—

The two legislators, by the way, became so engrossed in discussing leading legislative problems that they were the last ones to leave the luncheon table. Doug Beatty, Chamber of Commerce president, finally had to go in and get them so that the parade wouldn't go off and leave 'em.

We didn't hear what Thompson or Bruce were talking about and neither did Doug so we are sorry to say that we can't report what legislative matters were being brewed.

Maybe we will learn later. Thus, who knows, the 65th Old Settlers Day in Campbell may score again on an entirely different plane, replacing the traditional smoke-filled room of politicians.

—o—

Mayor John M. Chargin's fellow-councilmen have been giving Jack a bad time ever since the parade because Hizzhonor somehow became separated from the other City Dads and wound up at a different falling-in spot than they did.

However, somehow all the City Fathers rolled in the parade. Chargin still claims he was in the right spot and the other Councilmen were wrong.

Sort of everyone out-of-step but me deal.

—o—

There was also slight confusion at the reviewing stand where the judges were stationed

The judges arrived at the vantage point on time but when they had settled themselves in the stand they could not find a single official parade list among 'em or any instructions as to what classification each had to judge.

Ruby Cook, Sam Cava's efficient secretary, recalled that she had carefully typed out a copy for each judge, but nobody knew what had happened to the copies.

A frantic call went over the "walkie-talkie", manned by Tom Casey and Gordon Rooney, to try to locate Sam and the missing papers, but Sam had already started down the street as director of the musicians union band.

We gave up our own copy of the list which we planned on using as a guide when we took pictures so the judges managed to get down to work after a fashion.

—o—

It was finally uncovered when Sam came by that the missing papers were on the reviewing stand all the time, reposing in the pocket of Judge Martin Walsh, Master of ceremonies. He had been given them at the luncheon and had stuck them in his pocket not realizing what they were.

—o—

The judges were also a wee bit unnerved when the car transporting Brig. Gen. Clarence H. Pease, parade grand marshal, sailed right by the reviewing stand without stopping. The general had been scheduled to take his place on the reviewing stand and take the salutes from the passing military. But nobody had instructed the driver of the general's car.

The general kept right on going to the disbanding area and then, because of previous engagements and a tight schedule, rather than pushing his way back up the line went right to his helicopter and took off for Sacramento.

The judges felt that some military man should be on the stand to take the salutes and commandeered two Marine privates, members of the snappy Marine band that had just passed, to do the honors. They did o.k. in that department also and the passing military didn't seem to miss the general.

—o—

Unscheduled humorous incidents occurred also when, because of the threatening weather, a number of Old Settlers, who were guests at the luncheon, didn't feel like braving the elements and riding in the classy cars at their disposal.

A number of such cars, thereupon, entered the line of march without any passengers but still carrying the "Old Settlers" signs.

One of the cars picked up a five-year old girl for its lone passenger. The little girl riding alone in the big shiny car sporting the Old Settlers sign evoked a lot of pleasure from the crowd.

—o—

The queen and her attendants because of the weather were scheduled to ride in an enclosed car to protect their finery but when the weather turned for the better they "bumped" Sam O'-Brien, planning commission chairman, from his open job and rode more in style fitting the pretty girls.

Sam, good-naturedly, climbed into a car with a councilman or two.

—o—

Governor Goodwin Knight had been invited attend the celebration but no word was forthcoming from him prior to the parade which is quite unlike "Goodie".

Sam Cava received a telegram Monday expressing Knight's regrets for not being present at the parade and luncheon. As a part of the telegram was the notation: "To be dld at noon May 19 Campbell High School cafeteria Campbell, Calif."

Sam got it at his office 24 hours after the luncheon had been held.

—o—

But all in all it was fun and we're looking forward to next year.

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Representative Charles S. Gubser

In our comfortable living room chairs at home the mythical "iron curtain" seems far away and not too exciting. As we grumble over taxes in an after dinner conversation it is all too easy to suggest that we do away with foreign military aid and "let those foreigners defend their own countries." A visit to the iron curtain sometimes puts a different light on things.

During the Easter recess I flew to the Czech border in an army helicopter. Within five minutes the other side was bristling with activity and we stared into the barrel of a tank which was followed by several personnel carriers and a company of infantry. Had we made one step across that fence the "balloon would have gone up" and World War III could have started.

The Iron Curtain is not mythical. It is a ten foot steel fence charged with 100,000 volts of electricty and guarded on both sides by alert soldiers operating in extreme cold under wartime conditions. I'm proud to say that our army is well equipped, thoroughly aware of the delicate situation it faces and is ready to go at a moments notice. These are not maneuvers or training exercises but very real and urgent actions to protect free Europe as the first line of defense against Communist invasion of our own homeland.

NATO, after all its trials and tribulations is finally a going organization. It is looked upon as a genuine team effort by its member nations and as the only deterrent to the spread of communism through Western Europe. Every member realizes that individual and uncoordinated efforts would again result in the debacle of World War II that culminated in Dunkirk and that no nation by itself could stop a Soviet move.

German troops are well regarded and have removed the last vestige of distrust among European nations. They are accepted by their traditional enemies, the French, as allies in a common cause. Atomic weapons, far from creating the resentment in Europe that some columnists would have you believe, are accepted as necessary. "Have not" nations are grateful at belonging to an organization with an atomic capability.

I could write a book on this subject but this is a column. I can only summarize my feelings and tell you that the iron curtain looks a lot different staring into the barrel of a Soviet tank than it does from a living room chair. I, for one, am grateful our forces are in Europe and am willing to pay the bill for keeping them there!

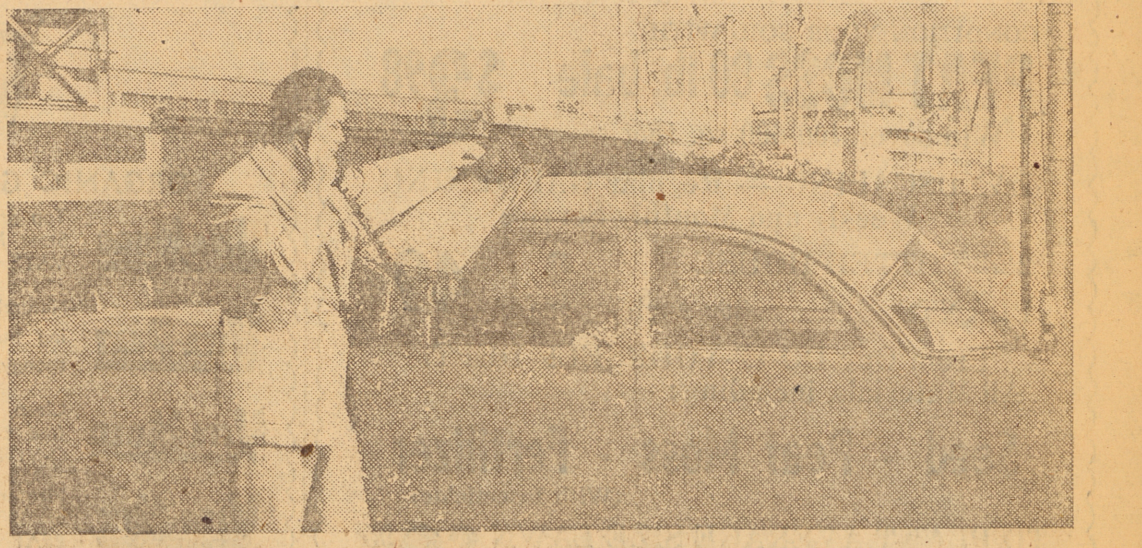
How police dragnets go into action

You've probably seen police detectives launch many a case on television or in the movies with an All Points Bulletin. But did you realize you were watching your telephone system swing into action at the same time? The Teletype networks that carry police "APBs" are put in and maintained by telephone people. These nets link hundreds of real-life law enforcement agencies on the Coast. They're used to exchange facts on police cases. News services, air lines, and many others use similar hook-ups. Teletype networks are one of the services we offer as part of our communications job.



Mobile telephones are another service we offer. They have lots of uses in cars, taxis, trucks. We also supply private-line phone systems, used by many government agencies and businesses to link offices and plants. Special services like these provide communications of many kinds that are vital to your everyday life.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

1. A new chemical is available which will kill all types of grasses including bermuda and quack grass. Just spray the foliage and your worries are over. Doesn't sterilize the soil either.

2. Lawn moth damage can be controlled by the use of chlordane or dieldrin.

3. It is frequently desirable to thin Clematis armandi vines (Evergreen Clematis) after they finish their main spring bloom.

4. Some evergreen shrubbery can be pruned for shape at this time.

5. If you failed to plant tuberous begonia tubers earlier, it's still not too late. Most nurseries are offering tuberous begonia seedlings or tubers now.

Flowering Evergeen

Summertime in California means outdoor living time. All over the state families will be eating, playing and relaxing in their backyards and on their patios while enjoying the companionship of summer blooming plants. Among the loveliest of summer flowering plants are the evergreen vines that can be planted to give shade, protection from wind and beauty all in one, says the California Association of Nursery men.

The Trumpet vines include a variety of flowering evergreens suitable for planting throughout most of California although few are hardy where temperatures fall below 24 degrees. The Blood-Red Trumpet Vine (Phaeddranthus Buccinatorius or Bignonia cherere) is a fast-growing plant with glossy deep green foliage and flowers in gradations from yellow to rose-red. Once this vine is established, it's a strong, high-growing climber; plant it in the sun against a wall or high trellis. Prune each year to keep under control;feed and water generously.

Violet or pale lavender trumpets appear on the Violet Trumpet Vine (Clytostoma Callistegioides or Bignonia violacea) in early spring and the middle of summer. Its foliage is a dark glossy green. The Violet Trumpet Vine is strong-growing and needs support on a wall. It can be grown in sun or part shade and should be treated as a perennial in colder climates.

The Bougainvillea is one of the more popular of evergreen flowering vines. Its height of blooms comes in July; there are varieties blooming in shades of purple, red, magenta, scarlet - all brilliant and eye-catching. The Bougainvillea is strong-growing and will twine to 20 feet. Plant this vine against a warm wall; control it with pruning and feed generously.

One of the most fragrant flowering vines is the Gold Coast Jasmine (Jasmine dichomum) which grows rapidly in sun or part shade. This Jasmine has thick, glossy leaves and fragrant clusters of white flowers that open at night in June.

Bright yellow fragrant flowers are borne on the Italian Jasmine (Jasmine humile) from July to September. It will do well in sun or part shade; the willowy shoots reach to 20 feet and can be arched or trained as a shrub.

Masses of brilliant blue bells cover the Australian Bluebell Creeper (Sollya Fusiformis) through most of the summer. This vine grows as a low climber or trailing shrub and does well in full sun or part shade in coastal area, part shade inland. It should be watered generously. Plant the Australian Bluebell Creeper in a pot or tub placed on a wall so its branches can spill down. It can also be attractively grown as a ground cover.

Ground Covers

When you garden with ground covers you will discover a whole new world of low-growing plants suitable for shady and sunny, frequently traveled or out-of-the-way places, hills or plateaus.

Ground Covers include plants that will tolerate a great deal of foot traffic, some traffic and no traffic at all. Some ground covers bloom in flowers and fruits; most of them will not require much care, except occasional watering, weeding and thinning out, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Among the more popular ground covers for no-traffic areas is a Ajuga reptans, called Giant Ajuga or Carpet Bugle. It features rosettes of dark green leaves and four inch spikes topped with purple-blue flowers and will grow well in sun or shade. In Southern California, this plant prefers shade or filtered sun. Avoid planting it in an area of continued direct sun light. Giant Ajuga grows in a thick mat that will keep out most weeds. Clean the leaves with a bamboo rake or strong stream of water from the hose.

The old-time herb Chamomile (Anthemis nobilis) will tolerate traffic; in fact, it's a pleasure to walk on it for it gives off a delightful fragrance when stepped on. Its foliage is bright green and the flowers white with yellow centers. As Chamomile ages it is necessary to mow or shear it back to keep it neat and attractive.

Although it is best in half shade the Dwarf Plumbago (Ceratostigma Plumbaginoides) will tolerate some sun so it can be planted in areas of no traffic whether they be sunny or shady. The Plumbago, also called Blue Leadwort, is hardy and happy if watered moderately. Its leaves are hairy-edged, the stems red and the fall flowers a deep rich blue. In autumn the leaves turn from bronzy-green to red-brown.

Dichondra

Excellent as a lawn substitute or ground cover, the Dichondra Carolinensis, commonly called Dichondra or Lawn Leaf, is a matted perennial that grows well in high shade or full sun and will take traffic.

Dichondra's leaves are dark green; in the sun they are small but in shade they grow larger and the stems are longer. This ground cover is not particular about soil - -it will grow well in acid, neutral or alkaline conditions. It is necessary to weed Dichondra but check first with your nurseryman before you try a chemical weed killer for some cannot be used on Dichondra. Mow only occasionally to keep neat and uniform.

While Dichondra may be planted in seed form in much the same manner as a lawn, the California Association of Nurserymen suggests planting from flats as a superior method. Separate the flats into two-inch plugs and plant plugs six to eight inches apart over the area. While seed planting is recommended only between the months of March and August, the hardier plugs may be planted the year around.

If you should choose to use seed, make sure it is thoroughly dried and bleached. Prepare your seed bed as you would for grass.
